Total rooms: 6 | Rooms: 4 | Bathrooms: 2 | Surface area: 170 m²

Cervo is an ancient medieval village strategically located on a hill overlooking the sea. The historic center, completely renovated while preserving its original features, has remained unchanged in its stone structure, with cobbled alleys accessible only on foot.

In this wonderful location, we offer a charming portion of a house on multiple levels. The entrance opens onto a small hallway that leads to the living room, kitchen, first bedroom, and bathroom. This entire floor overlooks a charming garden. Upstairs are two spacious bedrooms. One boasts a quaint balcony, while the other has its own private terrace overlooking the village's narrow streets. Finally, on the top floor, there's another bedroom (living room) overlooking a charming terrace with a view of the church bell tower.

Internally, it is in excellent condition. Although all the characteristic features of the original building have been retained over the years, this property has always been well-maintained and is currently perfectly habitable.

Access is from the medieval village, so you can't drive right up to the house, but there are convenient municipal car parks less than 250 metres away.
